Dear Mr. Sweet,

I am writing this to let you know that I totally support the idea of Gearhart getting its own zip code. It makes no sense for a town this size to share a zip code with a town that size. It also continues to cause all kinds of mailing and shipping issues. Not to mention that when I moved here and went to get my driver's license, the DMV computer autoloaded Seaside as my city and I did not catch it. They wanted full fees to redo the license so now I have an incorrect address on my license until my next renewal...dumb!

Sincerely,
Aaron Cuttino

This is another example of shared Zipcode impact on real estate commerce. Note that depending on the website used, the city location changes from Gearhart to Seaside. Are people missing out on sales? Possibly.
